We have just received notification that our proposal to upgrade the bathrooms outside the gym was chosen for funding. The project which will be done over the summer to address the toilet and sink facilities is the initial step to upgrading the bathrooms.

Principal's Corner

Dear Parents,

As we prepare for Graduation, it is time to consider the role RCS has played in the life of a student. In these times when it is easy to discount the value of a Catholic education due to economic constraints, let's look at the product. RCS is proud of its eighth grade class. The students in the class have developed lifelong skills. They have the tools to access information and build a knowledge base. They are equipped to function successfully in high school and to continue to develop the talents with which each is endowed. They have a working knowledge of the Catholic Faith and understand that to be a Christian, you need to live the faith daily through your actions.

The sense of community and the understanding of working toward a desired goal doesn't come without practice and some effort. RCS has provided them the opportunities to build academic stamina, commitment and a sense of worth. RCS has fostered the development of the person, the scholar and the true sense of self.

Given the above observations, it is clearly evident that RCS is a vital component in the foundation of a student. Our grads embody the best of the best and return dividends for life for the investment so carefully made by their parents. RCS is the place to be and will be here for many years to come!

Sincerely,

Eileen A. Kerins

A Note From Mr. Foster

Dear Parents,

Monday June 21st is our annual field day for grades 1-7. It should be a fun and exciting wrap-up of an exciting year. Several of our activities involve water games, but I do not expect a significant amount to get on any student. Nonetheless, a second set of dry clothes is suggested. For safety reasons, it is necessary that every child wear sneakers—otherwise they may not be able to participate. Sunscreen should be applied prior to coming to school, if needed. A water bottle, hat, sunglasses are recommended. Appropriate attire includes a school gym uniform, no bathing suits, please.

Thanks for your cooperation.
